About Sovereign Nations Coffee Company

At Sovereign Nations Coffee Company, founded by Henry Cagey of the Lummi Nation and Stephen Munford of the Bitterroot Salish and Pend d'Oreilles tribes of the Confederated Salish Kootenai Nation, our mission is to deliver outstanding coffee through direct trade with Cameroonian farmers. Our Cameroon Boyo coffee, known for its mellow, aromatic, and rich full-bodied taste, is organically grown by small plot farmers in volcanic soil at elevations over 5,000 feet. We ensure fair compensation for farmers, enabling them to support their families and preserve their cultural heritage. Our indigenous-to-indigenous trade relationship, rooted in the 14th century, supports sustainable farming practices and environmental protection. Every sip of our coffee promotes equity, sustainability, and celebrates indigenous diversity and traditions. To learn more, visit our website
